A. P. Survey Shows Truman Strike Bill Facing Turndown

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 29.—President Truman's strike-draft plan faces almost certain defeat in the senate if the coal dispute is settled quickly, an Associated Press poll showed today.
Of 62 senators willing to state their position, 44 said they are opposed to that section of the house-passed emergency bill which would empower the President to induct into the army those who strike in government-seized industries. Eighteen senators announced their support of the proposal.
The senate begins its second day of debate on the measure today. The 44 senators lined up against the draft section of the emergency measure passed by a dramatic 306 to 13 house vote last Saturday include 19 Democrats, 24 Republicans and a Progressive. They represent a bloc only four short of a 48 majority, now that there is one vacancy in the senate.

There seemed little doubt that if the coal dispute is settled and the industrial scene quiets even temporarily, the margin for defeat of the draft provision would be supplied from among 14 Democrats and 11 Republicans who decline to commit themselves publicly right now.
Any new flare up in the coal controversy likely would change the situation somewhat, but the fundamental opposition to drafting men to work appears so strong the section seems practically doomed in its present form in any event.

Opponents have described the measure as the most sweeping grant of power ever sought by any president. Supporters have termed it necessary emergency authority that might never be used.
Senators Wheeler (D., Mont.) and O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) were reported to have urged Mr. Truman at a White House conference yesterday to withdraw his entire emergency bill if an agreement is reached in the coal controversy.
But the President reportedly gave no assurance any such action would be forthcoming.
Organized labor kept up its barrage against the entire bill. The latest blast came from Sidney Hillman, head of the C. I. O.'s Political Action committee, who contended Mr. Truman had acted "in a moment of national hysteria deliberately provoked by the reactionary forces of big business."

Hillman pleaded in a telegram to senators to study the bill "in an atmosphere free from passion and vindictive anger."
Senate Republicans, meanwhile, armed with the unofficial approval of their party conference, prepared to blast at the emergency bill with a series of amendments.
Led by Senators Taft of Ohio, Millikin of Colorado and Ball of Minnesota, they had active support from a Democratic group headed by Senator Pepper of Florida and Murray of Montana.
The survey showed Ohio's two senators, James W. Huffman (D.) and Robert Taft (R.) as among those against the bill.

WHITNEY CHARGES TRUMAN WITH "DOUBLE CROSS" DEAL IN RECENT RAILWAY STRIKE

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 29.—A. P. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was in New York today for an address in which he promised to "spill all over the country" the story of what he termed a "double-cross" by President Truman in the recent railway strike.
Before he left here last night the Brotherhood chief disclosed he planned to consolidate his 225,000 members with one of the big union organizations (C. I. O. or A. F. L.) in a defense move against anti-labor proponents.

Whitney indicated labor legislation proposed by President Truman, and now before congress, might lead to unification of the C. I. O., the A. F. L., the Railroad Brotherhoods and other unions into "one big union" to provide a solid front.
In a fighting mood, Whitney said his 5 p. m. address today in Madison Square park would prove that he and Alvanley Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, had been given assurances by President Truman of a satisfactory settlement of their dispute with the railroads, before they agreed to a five-day postponement of the strike.

Whitney declared the postponement was agreed to by the Brotherhood heads after they were given "such an attractive package" in a telephone conversation with the President. At the same time, he said they agreed to return to Washington to resume negotiations on ending the strike.
"During the conversation we told the President we would like to take the conversation down on record," Whitney said. "He said we could go ahead. So we got our stenographer and in a three-way conversation we got it all down—his statement and ours."
He said that if he postponed the strike for 12 days he would assure a satisfactory settlement. We asked whether the assurances meant we would get more concessions than had been offered us. He responded in the affirmative.
"We then asked if he had the assurances of the railroads that there would be more concessions, and he again said he had those assurances."

"So we said 'all right,' and we decided to take a chance."
Like a bunch of suckers we postponed the strike, gave them a chance to load their guns, and then got double-crossed."

Asked whether President Truman had given any specific concessions, Whitney answered: "No, he said they promised concessions that are substantial."
Whitney also said the President assured him and Johnston if they postponed the strike for five days they would not be liable to prosecution under the Smith-Connally act while the railroads were in possession of the government.

The New York mass meeting, Whitney said, is sponsored by C. I. O., A. F. L., Railroad Brotherhoods and other unions.

'Watch Russia'

Churchman Plays Goals of Reds in Cleveland Talk Tuesday

CLEVELAND, May 29.—The United States should not deceive itself concerning the aims of Russia, said Archbishop John T. McNicholas, O. P., of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, for "Russia can never have either a true or universal love for mankind until it bows down before God."
"We in the United States must not deceive ourselves. Atheistic Communists are found everywhere," said Archbishop McNicholas, principal speaker at a banquet last night in honor of Auxiliary Bishop John R. Hagan following his consecration as titular Bishop of Limata and auxiliary bishop of the Cleveland diocese.
Communists have a "long range program," said Archbishop McNicholas. "They are patient, persevering, forbearing, crusading in their deception, in order to entrench themselves in every position which will give them eventual control of our government, the structure of which they would utterly destroy."

Pottery City Council Studies Bus Fare Hike
EAST LIVERPOOL, May 29.—Bus fare boosts of one cent were under study today by city council here and at Steubenville as a basis for settlement of a 27-day strike by AFL drivers of the Valley Motor Co. Company executives, who submitted the proposal, said approval of the increase from seven to eight cents a ride would permit 14-cent hourly wage increases to the 120 striking employees. They now receive an average of 86 cents an hour.

Receding Waters Free Most District Roads
LISBON, May 29.—Rapidly receding waters have left practically all highways in this area clear except in Franklin Square where Routes 344 and 558 are still under water.
These two roads were expected to be passable, however, late this afternoon.
The raging waters of the swollen Beaver creek dropped amazingly during the night, freeing the inhabitants of Elkton, who had been virtually isolated since late Sunday.

Sec. Byrnes' Statements Are Rebuttal To Red Minister's Charge

BY GRAHAM HOVEY
WASHINGTON, May 29.—American officials looked to Moscow today for Russian reaction to Secretary of State Byrnes' blunt denial of Foreign Minister Molotov's charges against him and the United States.
That denial, laid down with painstaking care by the secretary last yesterday, raised a prime question here: What will be its effect on Russo-American relations, already strained, and on chances for early peace in Europe.
Molotov had contended Monday that at the recent Paris meeting of foreign ministers, a British-American bloc waged an "offensive against the Soviet Union."
Byrnes at a news conference, refrained from accusing Russia directly of acting in bad faith.
But, reading from the stenographic record of international conferences at London, Moscow and Paris, he made these main points:
There is no British-American "bloc" against Russia.
Generalissimo Stalin agreed at Moscow last December to support the American plan for a big four treaty to keep Germany disarmed for 25 years.
Molotov at Paris May 16 acknowledged Stalin had agreed to the treaty idea. (Molotov denied this Monday.)
Russia backed out of a plan to which Molotov had agreed earlier for a thorough investigation in all four German occupation zones, of the disarmament of the German army and the dismantling of war plants.
Instead of saying flatly Molotov was mistaken about Stalin and the 25-year treaty, Byrnes said only that he was satisfied Molotov was misquoted or that there had been a misunderstanding.
Byrnes emphasized his hope the big four foreign ministers would be able to iron out their differences when they meet again in Paris June 15 and get on with the business of writing European peace treaties.

Flood Control Bill Approved by Committee
WASHINGTON, May 29.—A $750,000 flood control bill was approved today by the house flood control committee. It covers scores of projects in most of the country's great river basins.
Chairman Whittington (D-Miss.) withheld the project list but it became available through other sources.
The flood control measure would make no appropriations of money. It merely authorizes the projects and makes them eligible for construction by the army engineers as funds are provided by congress.

DACHAU STAFF MEETING END ON GALLOWS

14 Killers Hanged Tuesday; 14 More to Die Today By U. S. Order

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
LANDSBERG, Germany, May 29.—Fourteen Germans, convicted of slaying sadistically thousands in the famous concentration camp at Dachau, paid for their crimes yesterday at the end of a rope.
Fourteen more were scheduled to go to the gallows today, thus completing the largest mass execution ever conducted by the United States army, but the fate of one of them, Martin Gottfried Weiss, Dauchau commandant for 18 months, appeared in doubt as the hour for execution neared.
One Reprieve Due
Officials of the war crimes branch at Wiesbaden were reported meeting in an effort to determine whether a statement by a former Dachau inmate constituted grounds for a reprieve. Paul Grossman, a cook in a U. S. Field hospital at Bad Wiessee and formerly an inmate of Dachau, said Weiss did all he could for prisoners while he was in command of the camp.
All 28 were convicted by a U. S. military war crimes court last December for murdering more than 300,000 men, women and children at Dauchau—once a synonym in Germany for terror. The court heard testimony men were burned alive at Dachau, others were immersed in ice water for experimentation and thousands were beaten.
Over a harrowing three-hour period yesterday one Nazi dropped through the trap of the twin black gallows every 15 minutes. Each walked up the 13 steps alone and unaided.
Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, 74-year-old physician who had gained wide renown in pre-Nazi days shuffled to the gallows trembling but regained his composure as the hangman found his feet in the shadow of the cell block where Adolf Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf."
Asked if he cared to make a last statement, Schilling lifted his bearded chin in a defiant attitude.
"Nein," he snapped. "Schnell, bitte schnell." ("No, hurry, please hurry.")
The hangman did.

Call Jury June 10 On Liverpool Murder
LISBON, May 29.—Seeking a speedy indictment and trial of Lawrence "Abe" Wheatley, 26-year-old Newell, W. Va., potter, in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Leatha Barrett, 57, of East Liverpool, Prosecutor Frank W. Springer today conferred with Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, who ordered the April term grand jury reconvened in special session on June 10.
Wheatley, finally agreeing to extradition, will be taken to Wheeling, W. Va., today, where he will be released to Columbiana county authorities by a circuit court judge.
Mrs. Barrett's body was found over an embankment along the East Liverpool-Wellsville road Sunday, at the spot where, on Thursday night, authorities say the suspect admitted he had beaten a woman to death. A search at that time, however, failed to reveal the body.
Several other cases now awaiting grand jury action also will be investigated by that body before making its report to the court, Springer said, in order that the county will not have the expense of boarding prisoners through the summer months while awaiting action by the September grand jury.

LEWIS MEETS WITH POLICY COMMITTEE, ENTERS FINAL SESSION IN NEGOTIATIONS

WASHINGTON, May 29.—John L. Lewis met with the United Mine Workers policy committee today as the U. M. W.'s Ohio district expressed belief an end of the soft coal strike is at hand.
The 250-man policy committee is the group, so Lewis would report any agreement reached with government negotiators. It also would ratify any settlement.
District 6 headquarters said in Columbus that "we think the strike is over" and that final details of the settlement would be worked out at a 10:30 a. m. conference in Washington.
The headquarters' information was described as coming from T. J. Price, district secretary-treasurer, in Washington.
Lewis and other UMW officials in the capital declined immediate comment. But the gathering at UMW headquarters indicated the 10:30 conference might be a meeting of the union's policy committee.
At the office of Secretary of Interior Krug, federal mine boss, official said a further meeting with Lewis on contract negotiations had not yet been set.
Krug reported last night some progress had been made in drafting a new contract.
Strike In 59th Day
The strike is in its 59th day—counting the only partially effective two-week truce which ended last Saturday.
Despite the general air of expectancy, the government did not relax its efforts to bring about a settlement before the shutdown regains its stranglehold on industry.
Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug called John L. Lewis into another morning session.
A hastily-arranged consultation with President Truman late yesterday brought some progress—but no contract—according to Krug and White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross.
The last-minute delay developed even as lawyers for Krug's Federal Coal Mines administration and the United Mine Workers drew up tentative contract provisions.
This set-back after major terms were reported to have been agreed upon may have prompted the visit to the White House by Krug, Lewis and Vice Adm. Ben Morerell, Krug's deputy administrator in running the mines.
The major terms on which Lewis and the government were said to be in agreement as of yesterday call for:
1. A 45-hour, five-day week to replace the present six-day work week, with the basic wage rate boosted from $1 an hour to $1.18 1/2.

A. P. Survey Shows Truman Strike Bill Facing Turndown

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—President Truman's strike-draft plan faces almost certain defeat in the senate if the coal dispute is settled quickly, an Associated Press poll showed today.

Of 62 senators willing to state their position, 44 said they are opposed to that section of the house-passed emergency bill which would empower the President to induct into the army those who strike in government-owned industries. Eighteen senators announced their support of the proposal.

The senate begins its second day of debate on the measure today. The 44 senators lined up against the draft section of the emergency measure passed by a dramatic 306 to 13 house vote last Saturday include 19 Democrats, 24 Republicans and a Progressive. They represent a bloc only four short of a 48 majority, now that there is one vacancy in the senate.

There seemed little doubt that if the coal dispute is settled and the industrial scene quiets even temporarily, the margin for defeat of the draft provision would be supplied from among 14 Democrats and 11 Republicans who decline to commit themselves publicly right now.

Any new flare up in the coal controversy likely would change the situation somewhat, but the fundamental opposition to drafting men to work appears so strong the section seems practically doomed in its present form in any event.

Opponents have described the measure as the most sweeping grant of power ever sought by any president. Supporters have termed it necessary emergency authority that might never be used.

Senators Wheeler (D., Mont.) and O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) were reported to have urged Mr. Truman at a White House conference yesterday to withdraw his entire emergency bill if an agreement is reached in the coal controversy.

But the President reportedly gave no assurance any such action would be forthcoming.

Organized labor kept up its barrage against the entire bill. The latest blast came from Sidney Hillman, head of the C. I. O.'s Political Action committee, who contended Mr. Truman had acted "in a moment of national hysteria deliberately provoked by the reactionary forces of big business."

Hillman pleaded in a telegram to senators to study the bill "in an atmosphere free from passion and vindictive anger."

Senate Republicans, meanwhile, armed with the unofficial approval of their party conference, prepared to blast at the emergency bill with a series of amendments.

Led by Senators Taft of Ohio, Millikin of Colorado and Ball of Minnesota, they had active support from a Democratic group headed by Senator Pepper of Florida and Murray of Montana.

The survey showed Ohio's two senators, James W. Huffman (D.) and Robert Taft (R.) as among those against the bill.

WHITNEY CHARGES TRUMAN WITH "DOUBLE CROSS" DEAL IN RECENT RAILWAY STRIKE

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 29.—A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was in New York today for an address in which he promised to "spill all over the country" the story of what he termed a "double-cross" by President Truman in the recent railway strike.

Before he left here last night the Brotherhood chief disclosed he planned to consolidate his 225,000 members with one of the big union organizations (C. I. O. or A. F. L.) in a defense move against anti-labor proponents.

Whitney indicated labor legislation proposed by President Truman, and now before congress, might lead to unification of the C. I. O., the A. F. of L., the Railroad Brotherhoods and other unions into "one big union" to provide a solid front.

In a fighting mood, Whitney said his 5 p. m. address today in Madison Square park would prove that he and Alvanley Johnston, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, had been given assurances by President Truman of a satisfactory settlement of their dispute with the railroads, before they agreed to a five-day postponement of the strike.

Whitney declared the postponement was agreed to by the Brotherhood heads after they were given "such an attractive package" in a telephone conversation with the President. At the same time, he said, they agreed to return to Washington to resume negotiations on ending the strike.

"During the conversation we told the President we would like to take the conversation down on record," Whitney said. "He said we could do ahead. So we got our stenographer and in a three-way conversation we got it all down—his statement and ours."

"He said that if we postponed the strike for 12 days he would assure us a satisfactory settlement. We asked whether the assurances meant we would get more concessions than had been offered us. He responded in the affirmative."

"We then asked if he had the assurances of the railroads that there would be more concessions, and he again said he had those assurances."

"So we said 'all right,' and we decided to take a chance."

"Like a bunch of suckers we postponed the strike, gave them a chance to load their guns, and then got double-crossed."

Asked whether President Truman had given any specific concessions, Whitney answered: "No, he said they promised concessions that are substantial."

Whitney also said the President assured him and Johnston if they postponed the strike for five days they would not be liable to prosecution under the Smith-Connally act while the railroads were in possession of the government.

The New York mass meeting, Whitney said, is sponsored by C. I. O., A. F. L., Railroad Brotherhoods and other unions.

'Watch Russia'

Churchman Plays Goals of Reds in Cleveland Talk Tuesday

CLEVELAND, May 29.—The United States should not deceive itself concerning the aims of Russia, says Archbishop John T. McNicholas, O. P., of the archdiocese of Cincinnati, for "Russia can never have either a true or universal love for mankind until it bows down before God."

"We in the United States must not deceive ourselves. Atheistic Communists are found everywhere," said Archbishop McNicholas, principal speaker at a banquet last night in honor of Auxiliary Bishop John R. Hagan following his consecration as titular Bishop of Limata and auxiliary bishop of the Cleveland diocese.

Communists have a "long range program," said Archbishop McNicholas. "They are patient, persevering, forbearing, crusading in their deception, in order to entrench themselves in every position which will give them eventual control of our government, the structure of which they would utterly destroy."

Pottery City Council Studies Bus Fare Hike
EAST LIVERPOOL, May 29.—Bus fare boosts of one cent were under study today by city councils here and at Steubenville as a basis for settlement of a 27-day strike by AFL drivers of the Valley Motor Co. Company executives, who submitted the proposal, said approval of the increase from seven to eight cents a ride would permit 14-cent hourly wage increases to the 120 striking employees. They now receive an average of 86 cents an hour.

Receding Waters Free Most District Roads
LISBON, May 29.—Rapidly receding waters have left practically all highways in this area clear except in Franklin Square where Routes 344 and 558 are still under water.

These two roads were expected to be passable, however, late this afternoon.

The raging waters of the swollen Beaver creek dropped amazingly during the night, freeing the inhabitants of Ekton, who had been virtually isolated since late Sunday.

Sec. Byrnes' Statements Are Rebuttal To Red Minister's Charge

WASHINGTON, May 29.—American officials looked to Moscow today for Russian reaction to Secretary of State Byrnes' blunt denial of Foreign Minister Molotov's charges against him and the United States.

That denial, laid down with painstaking care by the secretary late yesterday, raised a prime question here: What will be its effect on Russo-American relations, already strained, and on chances for early peace in Europe.

Molotov had contended Monday that, at the recent Paris meeting of foreign ministers, a British-American bloc waged an "offensive against the Soviet Union."

Byrnes at a news conference refrained from accusing Russia directly of acting in bad faith.

But, reading from the stenographic record of international conferences at London, Moscow and Paris, he made these main points:

There is no British-American "bloc" against Russia.

Generalissimo Stalin agreed at Moscow last December to support the American plan for a big four treaty to keep Germany disarmed for 25 years.

Molotov at Paris May 16 acknowledged Stalin had agreed to the treaty idea. (Molotov denied this Monday.)

Russia backed out of a plan to which Molotov had agreed earlier for a thorough investigation, in all four German occupation zones, of the disarmament of the German army and the dismantling of war plants.

Instead of saying flatly Molotov was mistaken about Stalin and the 25-year treaty, Byrnes said only that he was satisfied Molotov was misquoted or that there had been a misunderstanding.

Byrnes emphasized his hope the big four foreign ministers would be able to iron out their differences when they meet again in Paris June 15 and get on with the business of writing European peace treaties.

Junior High Orchestra Entertains Columbia PTA

It was reported that playground equipment, this year's P. T. A. project, has been ordered. Lunch was served by sixth grade parents.

Flood Control Bill Approved by Committee
WASHINGTON, May 29.—A $750,000 flood control bill was approved today by the house flood control committee. It covers scores of projects in most of the country's great river basins.

Chairman Whittington (D-Miss.) withheld the project list but it became available through other sources.

The flood control measure would make no appropriations of money. It merely authorizes the projects and makes them eligible for construction by the army engineers as funds are provided by congress.

As was the case in the Jaycees' recent used clothing campaign, a fleet of five trucks will canvass the city. Salem residents are urged to have their bundles securely tied and to place them in a prominent place on porches or in front of their homes to aid the Jaycees as they make their rounds.

The canvassers will make a second check of the city late Sunday to make sure all bundles have been collected.

DACHAU STAFF MEETING END ON GALLOWS

14 Killers Hanged Tuesday: 14 More to Die Today By U. S. Order

LANDSBERG, Germany, May 29.—Fourteen Germans, convicted of slaying sadistically thousands in the famous concentration camp at Dachau, paid for their crimes yesterday at the end of a rope.

Fourteen more were scheduled to go to the gallows today, thus completing the largest mass execution ever conducted by the United States army, but the fate of one of them, Martin Gottfried Weiss, Dauchau commandant for 18 months, appeared in doubt as the hour for execution neared.

One Reprieve Due
Officials of the war crimes branch at Wiesbaden were reported meeting in an effort to determine whether a statement by a former Dachau inmate constituted grounds for a reprieve. Paul Grossman, a cook in a U. S. field hospital at Bad Wiesse and formerly an inmate of Dachau, said Weiss did all he could for prisoners while he was in command of the camp.

All 28 were convicted by a U. S. military war crimes court last December for murdering more than 300,000 men, women and children at Dauchau—once a synonym in Germany for terror. The court heard testimony men were burned alive at Dachau, others were immersed in ice water for experimentation and thousands were beaten.

Over a harrowing three-hour period yesterday one Nazi dropped through the trap of the twin black gallows every 15 minutes. Each walked up the 13 steps alone and unarmed.

Dr. Klaus Karl Schilling, 74-year-old physician who had gained wide renown in pre-Nazi days shuffled to the gallows trembling but regained his composure as the hangman found his feet in the shadow of the cell block where Adolf Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf."

Asked if he cared to make a last statement, Schilling lifted his bearded chin in a defiant attitude.

"Nein," he snapped. "Schnell, bitte schell." ("No, hurry, please hurry.") The hangmen did.

LEWIS MEETS WITH POLICY COMMITTEE, ENTERS FINAL SESSION IN NEGOTIATIONS

WASHINGTON, May 29.—John L. Lewis met with the United Mine Workers policy committee today as the U. M. W.'s Ohio district expressed belief an end of the soft coal strike is at hand.

The 250-man policy committee is the group to which Lewis would report any agreement reached with government negotiators. It also would ratify any settlement.

District 6 headquarters said in Columbus that "we think the strike is over" and that final details of the settlement would be worked out at a 10:30 a. m. conference in Washington.

The headquarters' information was described as coming from T. J. Price, district secretary-treasurer, in Washington.

Lewis and other UMW officials in the capital declined immediate comment. But the gathering at UMW headquarters indicated the 10:30 conference might be a meeting of the union's policy committee.

At the office of Secretary of Interior Krug, federal mine boss, official said a further meeting with Lewis on contract negotiations had not yet been set.

Krug reported last night some progress had been made in drafting a new contract.

Strike In 59th Day
The strike is in its 59th day—counting the only partially effective two-week truce which ended last Saturday.

Despite the general air of expectancy, the government did not relax its efforts to bring about a settlement before the shutdown regains its stranglehold on industry.

Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug called John L. Lewis into another morning session.

A hastily-arranged consultation with President Truman late yesterday brought some progress—but no contract—according to Krug and White House Press Secretary Charles G. Ross.

The last-minute delay developed even as lawyers for Krug's Federal Coal Mines administration and the United Mine Workers drew up tentative contract provisions.

This set-back after major terms were reported to have been agreed upon may have prompted the visit to the White House by Krug, Lewis and Vice Adm. Ben Moreell, Krug's deputy administrator in running the mines.

The major terms on which Lewis and the government were said to be in agreement as of yesterday call for:

1. A 45-hour, five-day week to replace the present six-day work week, with the basic wage rate boosted from $1 an hour to $1.18 1/2.

Call Jury June 10 On Liverpool Murder
LISBON, May 29.—Seeking a speedy indictment and trial of Lawrence "Abe" Wheatley, 26-year-old Newell, W. Va., potter, in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Leatha Barrett, 57, of East Liverpool, Prosecutor Frank W. Springer today conferred with Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp, who ordered the April term grand jury reconvened in special session on June 10.

Wheatley, finally agreeing to extradition, will be taken to Wheeling, W. Va., today, where he will be released to Columbiana county authorities by a circuit court judge.

Mrs. Barrett's body was found over an embankment along the East Liverpool-Wellsville road Sunday, at the spot where, on Thursday night, authorities say the suspect admitted he had beaten a woman to death. A search at that time, however, failed to reveal the body.

Several other cases now awaiting grand jury action also will be investigated by that body before making its report to the court, Springer said, in order that the county will not have the expense of boarding prisoners during the summer months while awaiting action by the September grand jury.

Net Results

All illusions about being able to resolve the work stoppage crisis quickly were dispelled by the cold light of developments at the beginning of the week.

The strike-curing broth is not going to be served as hot as President Truman cooked it in his outbursts against the striking railroad workers. The net results of his outbursts are the end of the railroad strike and the discovery that the chief executive of the United States is beginning to have misgivings about the power of some of the labor union executives who formerly could do no wrong in the sight of the federal government.

Mr. Truman's misgivings apparently have won him a place on the political black lists of union executives. He has shown himself to be untrustworthy, according to their standards. Their standards are obvious. Any politician who questions the sanctity of any union executive, or takes exception to any decision made by the executive is by that token no longer to be trusted. Mr. Truman has done both.

The most pained individual in the nation may well be Postmaster General Hannegan, whose aim was to hold for Mr. Truman the labor vote which the Democratic party adroitly used as a balance of power in three presidential elections. The effect of what Mr. Truman has done may be to leave a large part of organized labor with nowhere to go in politics. Samuel Gompers used to preach that organized labor's leaders should make friends in both parties, but alliances with neither. The new generation may wind up with no friends and no alliances.

Military Reform

The recommendations made to the secretary of war by the Doolittle board which investigated army relations between officers and enlisted men call for reform of breadth and depth beyond the expectations of most citizens interested in the matter.

The net effect of the recommendations, if put in force, would be to terminate virtually all officer privileges above the minimum obviously needed to maintain military organization. Indirectly, the Doolittle board has said that it was excess privilege which caused bad feeling against officers who abused them.

In other words, the kind of officers inclined to abuse privileges became the source of resentment against officers as a group. Yet, under the same rules and traditions which some officers made intolerable other officers won and held respect. The most important of the 14 recommendations is that privilege-abusing officers be subject to easier dismissal. Whatever the War department may choose to do with the other recommendations, such as those dealing with decorations, saluting, off-duty behavior, terminal leave pay, distribution of allowances and nomenclature, is secondary. If enlisted men had complete assurance that officers in name only could be parted from their titles for abusing them, petty annoyances could be borne.

Who Was Sold Out?

Bitter charges by angry labor executives against President Truman for forcing a settlement of the railroad strike are answered by a former member of the armed services in a statement published here-with:

"H. F. Sites, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, told members of his union Sunday, commenting on President Truman's strike action: 'He sold you out. He sold you out by denying you the right that he and the government so piously preached, the right that our boys are fighting for—the right to strike.'"

"That is too much. I have heard too many statements about what we were fighting for—all by people who wore civilian clothes throughout the war. It is bad enough when some intellectual is conducting an argument. But when a partisan speaker makes a bald statement, that is carrying it beyond the endurable limit."

"Mr. Sites' 'our boys' would not include many in the battle of the bulge while his trainmen were talking strike in December, 1944. It would not include any skilled workers drafted while railroad deferments were given to men whose jobs could have been dispensed with, except for the unions' insistence on 'feather-bedding' rules during the war."

"I might remind Mr. Sites that if any large number of 'our boys' had maintained the right to strike against the government, many an officer would have lost his whole command."

Human Rights Under Compulsion

Misgivings about government compulsion as a means of maintaining indispensable services are not peculiar to any particular group.

Everyone who thinks in the American tradition of the utmost liberty for the individual compatible with the rights of the group is afraid of compulsion.

But it is evident that the public is prepared to resort to a kind of compulsion as a safeguard against work stoppages that endanger public welfare. When all other forms of settling a dispute between employers and employees have been exhausted, the parties will be forced to accept temporarily a compulsory settlement.

This is not to be confused with involuntary servitude. Any citizen wanting to leave his job under such circumstances would retain that right. But there is no right under the Constitution to claim a job that has been quit. Ultimately, there will be certain specified industries in which employment will be conditional on acceptance of this condition, just as there already are two industries whose owners now must accept the inevitability of government operation in event of failure to operate—coal and railroads.

There would be no loss of rights under this kind of compulsion. There simply would be in certain industries a rule that the right to strike had been abridged due to the industry's vital importance. Since many industries in the indispensable classification already are or could be made public utilities in the eyes of the law, operating by franchise obtained from public authority, the public merely would be asserting a prior right as one of the terms of the utility's operation.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, May 30.

BIG THINGS and great matters of far-reaching scope and consequence are in the air, astral, planetary, practical and psychological. Their ultimate outcome and gratification depend upon the constructive grasp of essential, basic, and long-range factors in which the "little things," small items, details, and trivial ways and means have weight in forming decisions.

Proper evaluation of assets, income, friends, as well as personal and physical conditions have importance, since home, love and social and cultural happiness and prestige are at stake. A major matter may add color and charm.

Those whose birthday it is have prospect of a year of large and expanding opportunity for the attainment of their major desires and objectives, with the more intimate hopes and wishes affecting affairs of heart and home, the personal life and its aspirations.

There may be major issues at stake in which the astute, shrewd, cautious and long-range grasp of basic factors may be the indication of the final culmination. Details, well-organized plans and strategies have importance, and wise counsel from those in high places may be valuable. Some drastic move or event may have a brilliant reaction on personal, public, social or professional status.

A child born on this day should have much mental, personal and business capacity for success.

For Friday, May 31.

EVENTS of sudden and far-reaching significance and unprecedented denouements may prove sensational and at the same time have power to shake the life and its manifold activities to trembling foundations. Not that such means frustration, disaster or evil of any sort, as it may be grasped with such novelty, ingenuity and spectacular craft as to turn all such sudden visitations into high adventure or romantic crises.

Progress, production, fresh ways and means, radical change and new contacts spell glamor, thrills with much personal gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for an exciting, adventurous and dramatic year, in which all aspects and objectives may be suddenly pitched into breathtaking and bewildering crises as to have radical and revolutionary culminations.

New plans, startling originality, drastic upsetting of all old and effete traditions are likely to prove thrillingly successful, lucrative and bring much felicity. Daring to be original or "to kick over the traces" may be the formula.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Various Types of Conjunctivitis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
AT ONE time or another nearly everybody has suffered from red, inflamed eyes and certainly there are few disorders that a doctor sees more frequently.

This inflammation of the lining membrane of the lids and the eyeball is known as conjunctivitis. It may be caused by any one of a number of infections, hence successful treatment will depend on first discovering what particular "bug" is causing the trouble.

Eye Smear

For this reason Dr. William M. Bane of Denver believes that it is important in every case of conjunctivitis to take a smear from the eye in order to determine what germ is giving rise to the inflammation. It is not possible in every case to discover the "trouble-making organism," but the fact that it can be readily identified in so many, makes this procedure worthwhile.

For instance, the most frequent type of conjunctivitis is due to the pneumococcus bacteria, which is stopped dead in its tracks by a solution of quinine hydrochloride and certain other antiseptics.

On the other hand, conjunctivitis due to what is known as the Morax-Axenfeld bacillus clears up readily when treated with a zinc sulfate solution. Thus, if a smear is taken and the doctors learn right at the start what is causing the infection, there will be nothing hit-or-miss about the treatment. Less time, discomfort and possible permanent damage to the eye will be avoided.

Severe Type

A severe type of conjunctivitis may be due to the gonococcus. Dr. Bane suggests in treating this condition that sulfadiazine be given by mouth until the condition clears up. The doctor may even decide to wash the eye itself with a solution of sulfanilamide several times a day for one to two days.

Another type of conjunctivitis known as keratoconjunctivitis occurs in epidemics. This type causes a scratchy sensation in the eyes with redness and swelling of the lids. The condition last for several weeks up to several months. In not cases it clears up without causing any permanent damage to the eye.

Up to the present time, no definite treatment for this disorder has been found which appears to be of much value. It is thought that keratoconjunctivitis is due to be of much value. It is thought that keratoconjunctivitis is due to a virus, that is, and organism so small that it will pass through the openings in a porcelain filter.

Lining Membrane

Inflammation of the lining membrane over the eyeball may be produced because some bit of material gets into the eye. At times the bit of dust or dirt may be so small that it is difficult to see it.

For this reason when it is suspected that dirt is in the eye, the

After removal according to Dr. Bane, sulfathiazole ointment should be put into the eye and then the eye bandaged and kept closed for a day or two. While most of these eye conditions are not serious, they must be properly treated so as to avoid any permanent damage to the eye.

Net Results

All illusions about being able to resolve the work stoppage crisis quickly were dispelled by the cold light of developments at the beginning of the week.

The strike-curling broth is not going to be served as hot as President Truman cooked it in his outbursts against the striking railroad workers. The net results of his outbursts are the end of the railroad strike and the discovery that the chief executive of the United States is beginning to have misgivings about the power of some of the labor union executives who formerly could do no wrong in the sight of the federal government.

Mr. Truman's misgivings apparently have won him a place on the political black lists of union executives. He has shown himself to be untrustworthy, according to their standards. Their standards are obvious. Any politician who questions the sanctity of any union executive, or takes exception to any decision made by the executive is by that token no longer to be trusted. Mr. Truman has done both.

The most pained individual in the nation may well be Postmaster General Hannegan, whose aim was to hold for Mr. Truman the labor vote which the Democratic party adroitly used as a balance of power in three presidential elections. The effect of what Mr. Truman has done may be to leave a large part of organized labor with nowhere to go in politics. Samuel Gompers used to preach that organized labor's leaders should make friends in both parties, but alliances with neither. The new generation may wind up with no friends and no alliances.

Military Reform

The recommendations made to the secretary of war by the Doolittle board which investigated army relations between officers and enlisted men call for reform of breadth and depth beyond the expectations of most citizens interested in the matter.

The net effect of the recommendations, if put in force, would be to terminate virtually all officers' privileges above the minimum obviously needed to maintain military organization. Indirectly, the Doolittle board has said that it was excess privilege which caused bad feeling against officers who abused them.

In other words, the kind of officers inclined to abuse privileges became the source of resentment against officers as a group. Yet, under the same rules and traditions which some officers made intolerable to other officers won and held respect. The most important of the 14 recommendations is that privilege-abusing officers be subject to easier dismissal. Whatever the War department may choose to do with the other recommendations, such as those dealing with decorations, saluting, off-duty behavior, terminal leave pay, distribution of allowances and nomenclature, is secondary. If enlisted men had complete assurance that officers in name only could be parted from their titles for abusing them, petty annoyances could be borne.

Who Was Sold Out?

Bitter charges by angry labor executives against President Truman for forcing a settlement of the railroad strike are answered by a former member of the armed services in a statement published here-with:

"H. F. Sites, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, told members of his union Sunday, commenting on President Truman's strike action: 'He sold you out. He sold you out by denying you the right that he and the government so piously preached, the right that our boys are fighting for—the right to strike.'"

"That is too much. I have heard too many statements about what we were fighting for—all by people who wore civilian clothes throughout the war. It is bad enough when some intellectual is conducting an argument. But when a partisan speaker makes a bald statement, that is carrying it beyond the endurable limit."

"Mr. Sites' 'our boys' would not include many in the battle of the bulge while his trainmen were talking strike in December, 1944. It would not include any skilled workers drafted while railroad deferments were given to men whose jobs could have been dispensed with, except for the unions' insistence on 'feather-bedding' rules during the war."

"I might remind Mr. Sites that if any large number of 'our boys' had maintained the right to strike against the government, many an officer would have lost his whole command."

Human Rights Under Compulsion

Misgivings about government compulsion as a means of maintaining indispensable services are not peculiar to any particular group.

Everyone who thinks in the American tradition of the utmost liberty for the individual compatible with the rights of the group is afraid of compulsion.

But it is evident that the public is prepared to resort to a kind of compulsion as a safeguard against work stoppages that endanger public welfare. When all other forms of settling a dispute between employers and employees have been exhausted, the parties will be forced to accept temporarily a compulsory settlement.

This is not to be confused with involuntary servitude. Any citizen wanting to leave his job under such circumstances would retain that right. But there is no right under the Constitution to claim a job that has been quit. Ultimately, there will be certain specified industries in which employment will be conditional on acceptance of this condition, just as there already are two industries whose owners now must accept the inevitability of government operation in event of failure to operate—coal and railroads.

There would be no loss of rights under this kind of compulsion. There simply would be in certain industries a rule that the right to strike had been abridged due to the industry's vital importance. Since many industries in the indispensable classification already are or could be made public utilities in the eyes of the law, operating by franchise obtained from public authority, the public merely would be asserting a prior right as one of the terms of the utility's operation.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, May 30.

BIG THINGS and great matters of far-reaching scope and consequence are in the air, astral, planetary, practical and psychological. Their ultimate outcome and gratification depend upon the constructive grasp of essential, basic, and long-range factors in which the "little things," small items, details, and trivial ways and means have weight in forming decisions.

Proper evaluation of assets, income, friends, as well as personal and physical conditions have importance, since home, love and social and cultural happiness and prestige are at stake. A major matter may add color and charm.

Those whose birthday it is have prospect of a year of large and expanding opportunity for the attainment of their major desires and objectives, with the more intimate hopes and wishes affecting affairs of heart and home, the personal life and its aspirations.

There may be major issues at stake in which the astute, shrewd, cautious and long-range grasp of basic factors may be the indication of the final culminations. Details, well-organized plans and strategies have importance, and wise counsel from those in high places may be valuable. Some drastic move or event may have a brilliant reaction on personal, public, social or professional status.

A child born on this day should have much mental, personal and business capacity for success.

For Friday, May 31.

EVENTS of sudden and far-reaching significance and unprecedented denouements may prove sensational and at the same time have power to shake the life and its manifold activities to trembling foundations. Not that such means frustration, disaster or evil of any sort, as it may be grasped with such novelty, ingenuity and spectacular craft as to turn all such sudden visitations into high adventure or romantic crises.

Progress, production, fresh ways and means, radical change and new contacts spell glamor, thrills with much personal gratification.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for an exciting, adventurous and dramatic year, in which all aspects and objectives may be suddenly pitched into breathtaking and bewildering crises as to have radical and revolutionary culminations.

New plans, startling originality, drastic upsetting of all old and effete traditions are likely to prove thrillingly successful, lucrative and bring much felicity. Daring to be original or "to kick over the traces" may be the formula.

A child born on this day will be blessed with great inventive genius, originality, daring and ambition to secure a successful, fruitful, progressive, romantic and adventurous life.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

The Various Types of Conjunctivitis

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

AT ONE time or another nearly everybody has suffered from red, inflamed eyes and certainly there are few disorders that a doctor sees more frequently.

This inflammation of the lining membrane of the lids and the eyeball is known as conjunctivitis. It may be caused by any one of a number of infections, hence successful treatment will depend on first discovering what particular "bug" is causing the trouble.

Eye Smear

For this reason Dr. William M. Bene of Denver believes that it is important in every case of conjunctivitis to take a smear from the eye in order to determine what germs are giving rise to the inflammation. It is not possible in every case to discover the trouble-making organism, but the fact that it can be readily identified in so many, makes this procedure worthwhile.

For instance, the most frequent type of conjunctivitis is due to the pneumococcus bacteria, which is stopped dead in its tracks by a solution of quinone hydrochloride and certain other antiseptics.

On the other hand, conjunctivitis due to what is known as the Morax-Axenfeld bacillus clears up readily when treated with a zinc sulfate solution. Thus, if a smear is taken and the doctors learn right at the start what is causing the infection, there will be nothing hit-or-miss about the treatment. Less of time, discomfort and possible permanent damage to the eye will be avoided.

Severe Type

A severe type of conjunctivitis may be due to the gonococcus. Dr. Bene suggests in treating this condition that sulfadiazine be given by mouth until the condition clears up. The doctor may even decide to wash the eye itself with a solution of sulfanilamide several times a day for one to two days.

Another type of conjunctivitis known as keratoconjunctivitis occurs in epidemics. This type causes a scratchy sensation in the eyes with redness and swelling of the lids. The condition lasts for several weeks up to several months. In most cases it clears up without causing any permanent damage to the eye.

Up to the present time, no definite treatment for this disorder has been found which appears to be of much value. It is thought that keratoconjunctivitis is due to be of much value. It is thought that Keratoconjunctivitis is due to a virus, that is, an organism so small that it will pass through the openings in a porcelain filter.

Lining Membrane

Inflammation of the lining membrane over the eyeball may be produced because some bit of material gets into the eye. At times the bit of dust or dirt may be so small that it is difficult to see it.

For this reason when it is suspected that dirt is in the eye, the

Charles F. Kling Is 86 Thursday

Charles F. Kling of N. Ellsworth ave. who will observe his 86th birthday anniversary tomorrow, is a life resident of Salem.

A son of John Adam and Suzanne Kling, he was born in a house on S. Howard ave.

Mr. Kling attended school in a four-room schoolhouse, located where the Central Clinic now stands. There were two rooms up and two down. Two of his teachers were Mrs. Gyp Peeples and Art Snyder.

Having a vivid recollection of Civil war days, he recalls seeing troop trains going through Salem loaded to capacity, and some on top of the coach, with the "boys in blue" returning to their homes at the close of the war.

At the age of 13 he went to live with a family north of Salem and resided in that district until after his marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Kling have lived in their present home 44 years.

He was employed by the W. H. Mullins Co. for 29 years, retiring in 1926.

For more than 50 years he has been a member of the Presbyterian church. A life member of the Knights of Pythias, he has been affiliated with the order more than 60 years.

Washington Continues Winning Surge With One Over Yanks

Five-Star Pitching Staff Latest Block In Red Sox's Chase For American Title

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's five-star pitching staff, with its accent on dipping knucklers and darting butterfly pitches, looms as the latest stumbling block in Boston's pennant path.

Only seven games off the pace and a scant half game out of the runner-up spot, Ossie Bluege's Nationals have "flattered" into the flag chase on a sizzling two-week record of 11 wins in their last 13 starts.

Although Bluege has more solid hitting this season than he had in 1945 when he made a run of it until the final day of the season, the Senators still lean heavily on pitching. Despite the recent batting surge of Mickey Vernon and Jeff Heath, the mound record of 10 complete games in the 13-game string is the most important success factor.

The ancient Johnny Niggeling and Dutch Leonard each have accounted for three decisions in the recent hot streak. Niggeling going all the way three successive times, Roger Wolff, Mickey Haefner and Walt Masterson of the starting contingent each have one victory and Sid Hudson and Ray Seaborn triumphed on relief.

Leonard's latest success, was a neat 2-1 effort against New York last night, spoiling both Bill Dickey's home debut as manager and the Yankee stadium's first night game.

Larry MacPhail outdid himself with the finest lighting plant in baseball floodlights but the Yankees still couldn't get Leonard's flitting "dippy doodles."

Topcoat weather, a threat of rain and a chilly wind combined to cut the opening attendance to 46,895 paid, still the largest after-dark crowd of the season.

Detroit also closed in on the leaders, picking up a half game on the Red Sox who were rained out of their tilt with Philadelphia. Freddy Hutchinson, labeled the "$75,000 lemon" in pre-war days, accounted for his second victory, 6-1, allowing only five Cleveland hits.

The Chicago White Sox ripped off their fourth straight triumph for their new skipper, Ted Lyons, slugging three St. Louis Browns hurlers for 15 hits and a 9-2 romp. Orval Grove coasted home on a five-hitter.

Brooklyn's National league lead was sliced to two games on a combination of St. Louis' 12-2 slaughter of Chicago and New York's 5-2 night game edge over the Dodgers.

Dick Sisler finally hit his home run stride and pounded a round tripper with the bases loaded in an eight-run Cardinal fifth frame.

Johnny Beazley who started for the Birds was belted out and Reliever Ted Wilks picked up the decision over Claude Passeau. Beazley later was sent home to get treatment for the ailing hip.

Lefty Dave Koslo did a seven-hit job on the Brooks for his fourth success, snapping Brooklyn's seven-game win string. It was the Giants' fifth win in a row.

Pittsburgh put on a big inning, scoring four in the seventh, to overcome Cincinnati, 6-3. A scheduled Boston at Philadelphia night game was rained out.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

DUTCH LEONARD, Senators—Held Yankees to six hits and spoiled BILL DICKEY'S home debut with fourth-inning single for 2-1 verdict.

FREDDY HUTCHINSON, Tigers—Collected two singles while hurling Detroit to five-hit victory over Cleveland, 6-1.

DON KOLLOWAY, White Sox—Paced Chicago's 15-hit attack with double and two singles, driving in two runs in 9-2 triumph over Browns.

DICK SISLER, Cardinals—Hammered grand slam homer during St. Louis' eight-run fifth inning of 12-2 romp over Chicago.

DAVE KOSLO, Giants—Snapped Brooklyn's seven-game win streak with seven-hit job, 5-2.

Helen Wills Roark Says Poise Was Forte of French Ace

By BILL BECKER

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—The big moment in the career of Helen Wills Roark, six-time national women's tennis champion in the sports-booming 1920's, was—ironically—a two-set defeat.

"I never had a thrill to compare with my match with Suzanne Lenglen at Cannes in 1926," remarked Mrs. Roark, the "little poker face" whose grace and precision once amazed the tennis world. "She beat me, 6-4, 10-8. It was our only meeting and the greatest match I ever played."

"The late Mme. Lenglen epitomized tennis of the golden era, Mrs. Roark declared with an easy smile and a graceful gesture. "Suzanne had everything, and she was incomparably steady," she added.

Steadiness was the dominant note in tennis of her heyday. Players didn't come to the net so often, and there was more probing and, perhaps, better-balanced play than today, she felt. Her statement jibed with a recent comment by Bill Tilden, another star of the glorious decade.

Youths Lack Technique—"All most young players know today is serve, run to the net, and when the ball goes whizzing by them for a placement—about 'nice shot, old man!'"

Besides Lenglen, Mrs. Roark named Molla Mallory, Mary K. Browne and the Englishwoman, Kathleen McKane, as outstanding competitors.

Winning her first national singles crown at the age of 17 in 1923, Helen Wills repeated in 1924, 1925, 1927, 1928 and 1929. In Weightman cup play she lost only two singles matches while winning 16 from 1923 to 1932.

Now 40 and the wife of Adrian Roark, former polo star and present motion picture executive, she has lost none of her poetry-in-motion form and plays tennis several times a week.

Mrs. Roark picked Alice Marble as the best woman player of recent years, with Pauline Betz and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke as tops of the current amateur crop.

Salem Angler, Brother Catch 12-Pound Fish

Russell Harroff of E Sixth st. and his brother, William, of Cleveland claimed the best catch of the still-young fishing season after they pulled in a 28-inch blue channel cat fish weighing 12 pounds yesterday morning at Gulfport lake.

The two anglers used five "night crawlers" on a small hook as bait.

The catch was made off Andy Kaepfer's landing.

Althouse Dodgers are Hosts To Youngstown Nine On Park Field

Diamond attractions in the Salem area tomorrow will be featured by a twin bill at the Lake Placentia field where three Placentia aggregation takes on the Cleveland White Sox, the district's foremost Colored team.

The Lakers are seeking their second and third wins of the still-young campaign, having defeated the Barborton Slovians, 3-2 last week in their season opener.

The White Sox will counter with their ace, Booker Hammond, in one of the two tilts. Hammond's record this season reads two wins and one loss. Belcher or Hunt will get the nod in the other contest.

Play will begin at 1:30 p. m. At the Centennial park diamond, the Salem Althouse Dodgers will play host to the Youngstown Independents in a single game which is slated to get under way at 2:30 p. m.

Charley Mather, Leetonia High center who blanked the Youngstown Ringside club in his first start for the Dodgers, will face the Independents with Ritchie doing the catching.

The rest of the lineup includes Paul Stratton at first, Gib Everhart at second, Paul Scullion at short, Al Catles at third and Hrvatic Kenst and Johnny Hart in the outfield.

The Salem entry in the Eastern Ohio loop will journey two ways for a single game tomorrow.

St. Louis Browns in his last outing, was slated to take the mound today against the Tigers' Hal Newhouser in the series finale.

Field Of 33 Drivers Ready For Indianapolis Speedway

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29.—There were several downcast individuals at the Indianapolis Motor speedway today as workmen cleared the track for tomorrow's 90th running of the 500-mile International sweepstakes. The race will start at 11 a. m. (Eastern Standard time).

Bud Barowski, the Gary, Ind., boy who bought a racer with army pay that piled up while he was a prisoner of the Japanese, was crowded out of the starting field at the last minute.

Bud Rush of Ruskin, Fla., had qualified Barowski's semi-stock car at 112.268 miles an hour, but three cars qualified just ahead of the deadline and brought the number of qualifiers up to 35. Only 33 cars can start and Barowski and Charles Van Acker of South Bend, Ind., were nudged out of the lineup.

Two Without Horseshoe—Probably drivers and owners of all the score of cars that didn't make the grade felt abused by fortune, but two of the more unlucky were Rudi Caracciola of Bern, Switzerland, the European auto racing champion, and Robert M. W. Arbutnot of London, England.

Caracciola's attempt ended in disaster. His car crashed through a guard rail at the southwest turn late yesterday and he was hospitalized with severe head and body injuries.

Arbutnot lost his racing car in the London blitz but salvaged the 12-cylinder Lagonda motor. He installed it in a new chassis, which was wrecked as it was being towed.

Bonnell Seeks Second Win In Canfield Auto Classic

Consistent Al Bonnell of Erie, Pa., who captured the feature event in Canfield midget auto season opener last week, will try to make it two in a row as he takes the track against a large field of drivers Saturday.

The Canfield win was the fifth scored by the Pennsylvanians in the past few weeks.

The track is expected to be in top shape for this week's racing provided the recent heavy rains do not recur.

Time trials will start at 7 p. m. and the first event will get under way at 8:45 p. m.

INDIANS LICKED AGAIN BY TIGERS

Detroit Looks Like Top Outfit When Tribe Is Diamond Foe

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 29.—The Detroit Tigers are not favored by the odds fellows to repeat as titlists of the baseball world—but they look like champions when they take the field against the Cleveland Indians.

The Bengals mowed down the Tribesmen for the fourth time in five starts last night, winning a 6 to 1 victory behind the five-hit pitching of Freddy Hutchinson, erstwhile High school wonder boy. A crowd of 18,473 watched the Indians' first are light contest.

Ember's Bad Time

Charley (Red) Embree contributed to his own downfall by uncorking a wild throw that permitted the Tigers to score two unearned runs in the sixth inning.

George (Birdie) Tebbets opened the sixth with a single and moved to second on Hutchinson's one-baser. Eddie Lake laid down a sacrifice bunt but Embree threw the ball into left field trying for a force out at third. One tally crossed the plate on the error and another came in on two walks to sew up the game for the Tigers.

A wild heave by Frank Hayes on George Kille's bunt gave Detroit another marker in the seventh and the Bengals added three superfluous runs off Ed Killeman in the ninth. Hank Edwards' triple scored Mickey Rocco, who had walked, with the only Cleveland tally in the sixth frame.

Althouse Dodgers are Hosts To Youngstown Nine On Park Field

Diamond attractions in the Salem area tomorrow will be featured by a twin bill at the Lake Placencia field where the Placencia aggregation takes on the Cleveland White Sox, the district's foremost Colored team.

The Lakers are seeking their second and third wins of the still-young campaign, having defeated the Barborton Slovenians 3-2 last week in their season opener.

Heineman To Twirl

"Lefty" Heineman, who twirled the 11-inning win over Barborton, will share pitching duties tomorrow for the Lakers with Carroll Simpson and Close Simpson or Profetta will be behind the plate.

The White Sox will counter with their ace, Booker Hammond, in one of the two tilts. Hammond's record this season reads two wins and one loss. Belcher or Hunt will get the nod in the other contest.

Play will begin at 1:30 p. m. At the Centennial park diamond, the Salem Althouse Dodgers will play host to the Youngstown Independents in a single game which is slated to get under way at 2:30 p. m.

Charley Mather, Leetonia High member who blanked the Youngstown Ringside club in his first start for the Dodgers, will face the Independents with Ritchie doing the catching.

The rest of the lineup includes Paul Stratton at first, Gib Everhart at second, Paul Scullion at short, Al Catlos at third and Hyvatic Kenst and Johnny Hart in the outfield.

The Salem entry in the Eastern Ohio loop will journey too Waynesburg for a single game tomorrow.

St. Louis Browns in his last outing, was slated to take the mound today against the Tigers' Hal Newhouser in the series finale.

Vice President Roger Packinpaugh of the Indians reported last night Blas Monaco, utility infielder who became property of the Tribe in 1935, had been sold to Seattle of the Pacific Coast league.

Field Of 33 Drivers Ready For Indianapolis Speedway

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS, May 29.—There were several downcast individuals at the Indianapolis Motor speedway today as workmen cleared the track for tomorrow's 30th running of the 500-mile International Sweepstakes. The race will start at 11 a. m. (Eastern Standard time).

Bud Barowski, the Gary, Ind., boy who bought a racer with army pay that piled up while he was a prisoner of the Japanese, was crowded out of the starting field at the last minute.

Bud Rush of Ruskin, Fla., had qualified Barowski's semi-stock car at 116.268 miles an hour, but three cars qualified just ahead of the deadline and brought the number of qualifiers up to 35. Only 33 cars can start and Barowski and Charles Van Acker of South Bend, Ind., were bugged out of the lineup.

Two Without Horseshoe

Probably drivers and owners of all the score of cars that didn't make the grade felt abused by fortune, but two of the more unlucky were Rudi Caracciola of Bern, Switzerland, the European auto racing champion, and Robert M. W. Arbuthnot of London, England.

Caracciola's attempt ended in disaster. His car crashed through a guard rail at the southwest turn late yesterday and he was hospitalized with severe head and body injuries.

Arbuthnot lost his racing car in the London blitz but salvaged the 12-cylinder Lagonda motor. He installed it in a new chassis, which was wrecked as it was being towed.

Bonnell Seeks Second Win In Canfield Auto Classic

Consistent Al Bonnell of Erie, Pa., who captured the feature event in Canfield midget auto season opener last week, will try to make it two in a row as he takes the track against a large field of drivers Saturday.

The Canfield win was the fifth scored by the Pennsylvanians in the past few weeks.

The track is expected to be in top shape for this week's racing provided the recent heavy rains do not recur.

Time trials will start at 7 p. m. and the first event will get under way at 8:45 p. m.

Columbiana Nine Books Memorial Day Contest

COLUMBIANA, May 29.—The Columbiana Youngs will play the Youngstown Weatherseals at Firestone park at 2:30 p. m. Memorial day.

Rain prevented the game between the Columbiana Youngs and the Salem Althouse Motors, scheduled for last Sunday afternoon. It will be played later.

THEY HAVE CARRIED FREEDOM'S BANNER AROUND THE UNIVERSE

The men of America's armed forces have always fought valiantly and for a just cause. Through their efforts and bloodshed the liberty of all mankind has been strengthened time and again whenever allied warfare has been called for against an avaricious enemy. On this Memorial Day the war dead of World War II join those of World War I and previous wars in receiving our reverent prayers.

It is for us the living to remember, along with their names, that for which they died . . . a way of life rich because of its four freedoms—from fear and want, of speech and worship.

LEWIS

Time and one-half would be paid for work beyond 35 hours each week. This would net the miners $59.25 for a 45-hour week compared to their previous $63.50 for 54 hours.

2. Two health and welfare funds. One would be financed by the operators at the rate of five cents a ton of coal produced and would be administered jointly. The other would be made up of present payroll deductions for such things as medicine, surgery and hospitalization in cases where such payments already are made. This fund would be administered solely by the union.

3. Following the procedures of the National Labor Relations board in determining by elections which supervisory workers are eligible for membership in Lewis' union.

4. Safety standards to be set up by the federal bureau of mines.

5. Housing and sanitation facilities to be surveyed by an outstanding authority, with the help of the public health service, in an effort to establish standards for the company towns.

Meanwhile, the solid fuels administration last night "froze" for essential use the few thousand cars of coal produced during the waning days of the strike—just in case the strike became an extended one again.

Time and one-half would be paid for work beyond 35 hours each week. This would net the miners $59.25 for a 45-hour week compared to their previous $63.50 for 54 hours.

2. Two health and welfare funds. One would be financed by the operators at the rate of five cents a ton of coal produced and would be administered jointly. The other would be made up of present payroll deductions for such things as medicine, surgery and hospitalization in cases where such payments already are made. This fund would be administered solely by the union.

3. Following the procedures of the National Labor Relations board in determining by elections which supervisory workers are eligible for membership in Lewis' union.

4. Safety standards to be set up by the federal bureau of mines.

5. Housing and sanitation facilities to be surveyed by an outstanding authority, with the help of the public health service, in an effort to establish standards for the company towns.

Meanwhile, the solid fuels administration last night "froze" for essential use the few thousand cars of coal produced during the waning days of the strike—just in case the strike became an extended one again.
